

Graduate Feng Shui Practitioner's Course in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia

September 13, 2005

Day 3 - Mines Beach Resort Audit

Day 3 was a day of practical exercise! This time students and their masters headed to the Mines Beach Resort. This was an exceptionally interesting case study as it incorporated not just the resort itself but also a floating house and the apartments that the students stayed in.

The study was conducted in mixed groups from different countries as Grand Master Yap wanted the students to realise how different cultures and societies can have a different Feng Shui assessment approach of the same building even though all the students were taught the same theories and practical approaches!

The day was wrapped up with a relaxing beach barbecue. Some students also took the opportunity for a boat ride to discover the water entrances and exits of the lake that the resort hotel was situated on.